The Promising Professional™

CREATED BY

The Promising Professional

The word promising means showing signs of future success. It also refers to assuring someone that one will definitely do, give, or arrange something.

The word professional comes from the Latin word professio, which means to make a public declaration with the force of a promise.

Making the Promises

When we call ourselves professionals, no matter what the profession, we are making certain implicit and explicit promises.

Creating Your Promising Career

The Promising Professional™ examines the promises everyone should make and keep when they call themselves a professional and wish to have a promising career.
